Dear Dr. Jones:

My life has been significantly altered by Chronic Fatigue Syndrome. I am no longer able to work - I barely am able to leave the house for a couple hours, yet I've been denied SSDI twice. My only hope is science (and the promise more research brings) and government (for advocacy and public awareness).

It is my hope that groups like CFIDS and CFSAC can make a difference in my life.

Should you ever need to speak to a real person trying to live with CFS, please do not hesitate to contact me. Thank you. M J Mouser
