Dear ME-CFS Action Committee:

On September 14, 2010, I sent my heartfelt and painstakingly-composed input for your last meeting. This time, as preparations are underway for another meeting, I am too sick to write.

My teenaged children are also still sick. Our lives are still on hold, except for the pain part, which proceeds vigorously.

Not much has changed since I wrote in September so maybe you could just re-read the email I wrote then. Same message: we patients continue to be sick and we need action. We don't want more people to get sick and join us in this hell. But since I last wrote, more did. People always get sick. What can you do, eh?

Oops. There is the one important thing that changed. I heard that the committee has changed its name from CFSAC to MECFSAC. And the A now stands for ACTION, right? Good.

Thanks,
Kassy Fatooh
