
LIST OF PARTICIPANTS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE NATIONAL VACCINE PLAN

The National Vaccine Plan is the result of more than 3 years of deliberation and analysis. It draws on the decades-long experience of the Public Health Service, other Federal organizations, vaccine companies, and other nongovernment entities. It also has benefited from valuable input from the Advisory Commission on Childhood Vaccines; national, State, and local health offices; health practitioners; members of academia; and community groups.

The plan has been prepared by the National Vaccine Program Office (NVPO) through the National Vaccine Program Interagency Group and the Interagency Committee on Immunization. The plan's development was facilitated by the work of the National Vaccine Advisory Committee. Principal staff and editorial responsibility for the early development of the plan was carried out by Kenneth J. Bart, Kimi F.Y. Lin, and Chester A. Robinson, all of the NVPO. The final version of the plan was prepared by Roy Widdus, NVPO, under the guidance of Anthony Robbins, [Director-designate], NVPO.

The NVPO would like to express its appreciation to the staff who facilitated the work of the plan's development. The NVPO gratefully acknowledges the efforts of its staff members assigned to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the Food and Drug Administration, the National Institutes of Health, and the Health Care Finance Administration for their help in translating early discussions into prose for further review: respectively, they are Stephen Sepe, William Stevens, and Joan Mahanes. The NVPO especially thanks Joan Wilmarth Blair and Nicole Rosettie for their superb support over the course of the plan's preparation. Others within the NVPO who were instrumental in seeing the project to completion were Jeannette De Lawter, Donna Cochrane, and Sandra Tolpin. Finally, the NVPO gratefully recognizes Paul Elliott for his editorial contributions to the manuscript.
