

Needs and Resources Assessment Data Worksheet for Teen Pregnancy Prevention (TPP) Grantees

The following items will help you to quantify the number and type of data sources that you use to assess community needs and resources. You should consider obtaining data for each of the categories listed here. Potential data sources may include: health department reports, data from community partners, surveys or focus groups, etc.		Not collected	One source	Multiple sources
1	Prevalence of teen pregnancy Describe data source(s) and prevalence:	0	1	2
2	Prevalence of STDs, including HIV among youth Describe data source(s) and prevalence:	0	1	2
3	Prevalence of sexual behaviors including sexual activity, condom use, and contraceptive use. Describe data source(s) and prevalence:	0	1	2
4	Existing disparities by geography, population, etc. Describe data source(s) and disparities:	0	1	2
5	Community norms related to sexual health education for youth. Describe data source(s) and findings:	0	1	2

How to Select an Evidence-Based Teen Pregnancy Prevention Program

		Not collected	One source	Multiple sources
6	Parent attitudes regarding sexual health education and youth. Describe data source(s) and findings:	0	1	2
7	School policies regarding sexual health education and reproductive health services. Describe data source(s) and note relevant policies:	0	1	2
8	Current sexual health programs being implemented in schools, after school, in the community, and with vulnerable populations (incarcerated youth, youth in foster care, runaway and homeless youth, etc.). Describe data source(s) and list programs:	0	1	2
9	Current youth development programs being implemented in schools, after school, in the community, and with vulnerable populations (incarcerated youth, youth in foster care, runaway and homeless youth, etc.). Describe data source(s) and list programs:	0	1	2
10	Access to youth-friendly health care services (reproductive health, mental health, substance abuse, etc). Describe data source(s) and list programs/services:	0	1	2

This product was developed for OAH under contract #GS-10F-0030R/HHSP23320130043G with Child Trends.